WORKSHOP

with Dara Wissinger

The Power of Communication

Communication is at the heart of everything we do, and it's more important than ever as the world gets more connected every day. Whether you're chatting with friends, speaking up in class, or getting ready for your future career, being able to communicate well is a game-changer.

In this interactive workshop, high school students will dive into the world of communication, discovering different styles and learning how to make them work for them. We'll also explore how communication is changing in our digital world. And don't worry—Dara Wissinger, your instructor, will make sure it's super fun and engaging every step of the way!

By the end, you'll feel super confident speaking in English and ready to take on any conversation. Get ready to become the best communicator you can be!
